THE DISTRICT LEADER ACADEMY IN CHARACTER EDUCATION

The District Leader Academy in Character Education (dLACE) is a grant program for Missouri school districts that develops district-level champions for character development and school climate initiatives. The process CharacterPlus uses determines strengths and suggests strategic enhancements to ensure districts use research-based practices that make their schools the best places for teaching, learning, and personal growth.

Grant awardees will participate in workshop sessions, personalized coaching, and leadership training in character development.

CharacterPlus staff members with deep experience in school transformation will work closely with the district leadership team to examine local data and plan training and implementation for character development and improved school climate.

Through participant workshop sessions, coaching, on-site training, quarterly regional meetings, and school observations, district leadership will be equipped to guide their district's character and climate initiatives.

“Our mission is to educate and empower lifelong learners. Empowerment is fueled by character. The most valuable commodity for future adults is the ability to show strong character, be respectful, be able to work cooperatively, and have strong personal ethics. We believe having these qualities is just as important as academic knowledge.”
